HONEST TAXATION.

Democratic editors and speakers are charging that Gov. Hadley wants to increase the taxes of farmers. Of course, it's a lie, but it is so adroitly told that some people may believe it. The governor cannot raise the rate of taxation on property of any kind. That is fixed by the constitution at 15c on each $100 of taxable valuation for school and general purposes and 2 cents to pay interest on the state certificates of indebtedness to the school fund, a perpetual debt fastened on the people by Democrats. The governor can, however, recommend that all taxable property be returned for taxation at its real value, and that the rate of taxation be so fixed as to produce sufficient revenue to meet the expenses of economically conducted state and county government. The rate may be reduced by the legislature, but cannot be increased. If all property subject to taxation could be returned at its real or cash value a rate of 10c will produce more revenue than the present rate produces from taxable values dishonestly, unfairly and unequally returned.

An honest farmer who returns his land for taxation at its real value pays proportionately more in taxes than his dishonest neighbor who puts a fictitious valuation on his land. It is the idea of Gov. Hadley that all real estate and other property should be listed at its real, honest value in money, and that the rate of taxation should be established on that valuation, not on an arbitrary or fictitious valuation. In that way every taxpayer would have to pay his just proportion of taxes. The honest taxpayer would not have to make up for the dishonesty of other taxpayers. Anything wrong about that?

CHEAP POLITICS AND EMIGRATION.

The Cheap John Democratic politicians are now trying to show that Democratic state officials are cheaper than Republican state officials. The people discovered that years ago and need not be reminded of it now. The government of Missouri had been so cheap, so slow, so inefficient, and so discouraging prior to 1904 that hundreds of thousands of good farmers, mechanics and business men went to Oklahoma, Texas and the Northwest to live. There has been very little emigration from Missouri since Republicans took up the reins of government. Since the election of Gov. Hadley a tide of immigration has set in. And, unless Democratic influences stop the work of the Immigration Commissioners, that tide will rise high and fill up the state in a few years.

The sudden death of Chief Justice Jas. D. Fox, of the supreme court, was a shock to the people of Jefferson City, where he was personally popular. He was genial and kind, always ready for a pleasant moment with a friend, and devoid of affectation of any kind. Though a Democrat of the old school and a devoted partisan, he was agreeable to his Republican friends and acquaintances, never offending by partisan remarks. It was his intention to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1912. He was elected a member of the supreme court in 1902 for a term of ten years.

Judge Henry S. Caulfield, who was appointed by Gov. Hadley a member of the St. Louis Court of Appeals to succeed Judge Goode, a Democrat, has taken his place on that bench, and has been nominated by the Republicans of the district over which that court has jurisdiction for the unexpired term of Judge Goode, two years from January, 1911. His public record commended Judge Caulfield to the favor of Gov. Hadley, who immediately appointed him to the vacancy when he accepted the resignation of Judge Goode. No man can make a mistake by voting for Judge Caulfield.

"Shannon's Rabbits" in Kansas City and "Butler's Indians" in St. Louis were powerful allies of the Democratic party a few years ago. Butler is now too old for politics and his "Indians" have been put out of business by a Republican election board. Shannon is now the Democratic state chairman, but his "Rabbits" have sought safety from the grasp of the Republican police board at Kansas City. The "Indians" and the "Rabbits" are no longer tolerated in Missouri politics.

Missouri is no longer a Democratic state. There are not enough Democrats to make it so. Republicans are in the majority. If they all vote the Republican ticket they will win at the November election and have a majority in the legislature. If the independent voters sustain the Republicans the Democrats will surely be defeated. It is a matter, therefore, of getting out the full Republican vote and inducing independent voters to vote for Republican nominees.

The population of Missouri increased only 6 per cent in the past ten years, the increase being in St. Louis, Kansas City and a few of the more prosperous counties. Seventy counties lost in population. Ten years more of stagnant Democratic rule would have put Missouri on the toboggan for a rear place in the progress of western states. The population is increasing now and will continue to grow if the people have the wisdom to sustain a progressive executive administration.

FRANCIS, THE INSURGENT.

In a recent speech in Cedar county, Hon. Thos. J. Atkins, in speaking of alleged insurgents in the Republican party, said: "The Democratic party has had insurgents. Think of 1896 when David R. Francis, who is now holding his apron for a sweetened plum, was a member of a president's cabinet and yet left his party and spoke over the country for the ticket headed by Palmer & Buckner."

Republicans in New York honored Gov. Hughes, their reform executive, with a second term, and the President exalted him to a place on the Supreme bench. Missouri Democrats defeated their reforming governor when he asked for the nomination for senator, and gave that honor to a noted old ward politician; and the party leaders have since concocted a scheme that will eliminate folk from state politics for the present, at least.

A SAFE PREDICTION.

"We predict that the state Democratic central committee will do things this year. The signs point that way."—Palmyra Spectator.
Yes, that committee will do things—no doubt about that. Col. Bill Phelps started the committee doing things when he put his erstwhile lobby lieutenant, Joe Shannon, at the helm. Everybody knows how Phelps and Shannon "do things."

"In the long run, and inevitably, the actual control of the government will be determined by the chief end which the government conserves."—Roosevelt.

Missouri Fight for Reform, Under Hadley, Compared to Present New York Situation

He denounced the Democratic party in New York, as an "unholy alliance between Wall street and Tammany Hall," and attacked the Democratic party in Missouri by calling it the party "that represents the special interests and special privileges."

"Gov. Hadley," he continued, "has represented that kind of party loyalty in which I most believe; the kind of loyalty to the party which finds expression by seeing to it that that party is the most loyal servant of the people as a whole. And so I am glad, indeed, to come here to-night to speak for him because I think that the conditions of your fight here are substantially akin to the conditions of the fight we are making in New York State, in my own state."

"And as it is in New York so it is here in Missouri, the genuine party of the people, the party that stands for all the people is the Republican party, and the party of reaction and of Bourbonism, the party that represents the special privilege, is the party that arrogates to itself forsooth, the name of the Democracy."

The wedding was a very quiet affair, only the immediate relatives being present.

The young couple will reside for a time with the groom's parents.

They have many friends in Montgomery county who will extend hearty congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy life together.

A. B. Lail and family are expecting to leave in a few days for Colorado, where they will spend the winter. They have rented their home to Roy Griffith.

HADLEY SPEAKS BRIEFLY

"It has been a habit of the American people," he said, "to settle one problem at a time, and it has been their good fortune to find a leader for the settlement of every problem."

"For the civil war the Republican party gave us Lincoln and Grant. After the disastrous results of the tariff-for-revenue only period of our history it gave us William McKinley whom we afterwards honored with the presidency. When with the return of prosperity came abuses, when commercial standards became purely commercial and not moral, it gave to the people of this country a man who made an epoch in the history of American politics, who demanded business success, but who also demanded that it be lawful and honest—a man who faced malefactors of great wealth with the same courage he faced Spanish bullets on San Juan Hill and with which he went up in an aeroplane today—Theodore Roosevelt."

MRS. M. E. SABIN DEAD.

Lula B. Mohler was born in Illinois June 28, 1864, and died at her home near this city Monday morning, Oct. 10, 1910, at 9 o'clock of paralysis, aged 46 years, three months and 14 days.

On January 19, 1882, she was united in marriage to M. E. Sabin, whom she had known from childhood. They have spent their entire lives together, with the exception of one year which she spent in Nebraska.

About eight years ago she with her family moved from near Princeton, Ill., to this community. By her kind disposition, and her devotion to her home and family, she made many friends, who deeply sympathize with the bereaved relatives.

She had never united with any church, but had always lived an upright and Christian life.

She leaves to mourn her death, besides her husband, four sons—Roy, Clark, Jesse and Corey; five sisters, and her father.

The funeral services were held at the family residence Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Elder S. A. Elkins, after which the remains were interred in the New Florence cemetery.
